Donor Charter

The Australian Academy of Science is grateful to the support of all our donors and are committed to building a relationship of mutual trust and respect. Philanthropic giving is a tradition of giving and sharing that is vital to our work. To ensure that donors and prospective donors can have full confidence in the Australian Academy of Science and the activities they are generously supporting, the Academy commits that all donors can expect the following:

- To be informed as to who is serving on the Academy's governing Council and to expect the Council to exercise prudent judgement in its stewardship responsibilities
- To receive an official Academy of Science receipt, and appropriate acknowledgement, recognition and publicity.
- The Academy will respect the privacy of donors, and will provide anonymity for donors who request it.
- To use gifts in accordance with the intentions of the donor
- The Academy will ensure that all gifts are administered consistently with the letter and spirit of the law and are used in accordance with the donors' intentions. Undesignated donations will be used to support the Academy's highest priorities.
- To respect the privacy of donors: donor information will be used by the Academy to maintain contact with donors and keep donors up-to-date with information about the Academy, its services, events and achievements. Donor names may be published in the biannual Shine On donor newsletter and on the Academy website.
- To expect that all relationships with individuals or organisations that may benefit from the donation will be professional in nature.
- Representatives of the Academy will always identify themselves as such when they contact current or potential donors. Once a donation has been made, the Academy will provide donors with reports in the biannual Shine On donor newsletter about the way gifts have contributed to our success. On occasion stories will be uploaded to our website, but only with permission from the donors.
- To feel free to ask questions when donating and to receive prompt, truthful and forthright answers.
